PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Infosys, Hyderabad: senior System Engineer March 2022 – Present

- Developed dynamic, user-friendly dashboards and applications for real-time logistics tracking using React and Redux.
- Proficient in integrating third-party APIs to streamline logistics operations and enhance system interoperability within the retail sector.

PROJECTS

Kraft Heinz Branding websites July 2023 – Present

Kraft Heinz a global food and beverage leader with over 200 brands needs to manage a complex web presence. They require dedicated websites for each brand ensuring distinct brand identities while providing valuable consumer resources like product information recipes and ingredient transparency.

- As a front-end developer, I built several campaign websites using React.js. These projects required collecting user data, storing it in a database, and applying my knowledge of both server-side and client-side rendering techniques.
- Significantly improved application performance by reducing page load time. This was achieved by strategically implementing component reusability, lazy loading, and other performance optimization techniques.
- Enhanced web application functionality by successfully integrating third-party APIs and services.

Enterprise Sales and Planning Sep 2022 - July 2023

ESP is an internal application for advertising and sales strategy that enables users to monitor business activities track product marketing performance and plan and execute targeted promotions effectively.

- Designed and developed fully responsive front-end web pages from scratch using Bootstrap. Led the design of the user interface.
- Thoroughly understood application functionality and effectively consumed backend data to populate front-end pages.
